

PRESS RELEASE
for immediate release

CANADIAN HEADS TOWARDS UK CHRISTMAS NUMBER ONE

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4TH, 2012 (STRATFORD, ON) - Canadian independent pop/rock act, Brittlestar, is aiming their sights on the UK Christmas #1 chart position with their Christmas single.

The song 'The Christmas Message' is a spoken word but danceable tune that has been described as a cross between Band-Aid's "Do They Know It's Christmas" and The Talking Heads' "Once In A Lifetime".

"I want to make a lot of money from this song," says Stewart Reynolds, Brittlestar's principal member.

Marketing and promotion for the song is being done entirely through social media sites such as Twitter, Facebook and YouTube.

The song is available for purchase in the UK, and worldwide, through iTunes.

The music/lyrics video for the song can be viewed here:

<http://youtu.be/lznbLTqIHFY?hd=1>

For more information, please see www.brittlestar.com or contact Stewart Reynolds directly via email at mail@brittlestar.com

###